Cats in Pants

Naomi Tipping

- A hilarious flick through the underwear preferences of several cats with lots of personality.
- Uniquely hand-illustrated in a charming and textured style by Naomi Tipping, this book is guaranteed to be a hit with children and adults alike.
- Each page is equally divided into three parts so that the head, body, and (clothed) tail-end of the cat can be swapped around with the respective parts from other pages to create a variety of fun and different felines.

Naomi Tipping is an illustrator who has worked for a wide variety of editorial and publishing clients over the last 20 years. She loves to combine drawing, texture and collage to create fun and figurative illustrations with a handmade feel. She delivers 'Illustration & Imagination' workshops in schools and other settings. She is constantly inspired by the work of young people. Naomi lives in Nottingham.

The Story of UK Skateboarding 87–02

Neil Macdonald

- Told through hundreds of interviews with the people who shaped skateboarding in the UK during this era.
- Includes high-quality archival photography, much of which is previously unseen.
- Tells the story of huge brands and how they evolved out of the UK skating scene.
- Suitable not only for skaters but for anyone interested in film, fashion and photography.

Neil Macdonald has been skateboarding since 1988, and writing about skateboarding for Sidewalk, North, Free and Grey since 2007. He owns one of the world's largest libraries of printed and audio-visual skateboard media, including complete sets of all UK publications and almost every British-made skateboard film, as well as many hundreds of pieces of hardware and clothing. His @scienceversuslife Instagram account celebrates the stylistic innovations of '90s skateboarding.

The Spirit of Volvo

50 Reasons Why We Love Them

Vaughan Grylls

- A lively exploration of Volvo, one of the world's all-time favourite classic car brands.
- The fourth in a stylistically consistent series, showcasing the greatest marques of all time.
- Focuses on the design and style of the Volvo brand with vintage and modern photography throughout.
- Captivatingly written by a Volvo superfan and design expert.

Vaughan Grylls is an artist and writer who lives in London and East Kent. He has been a consistent if reluctant Volvo admirer ever since a girlfriend dropped him long, long ago for the owner of a P1800S. Vaughan was driving a VW Beetle at the time.

Abstract Textiles

Colour, Shape and Pattern in Textile Art

Anne Kelly

- An exploration of abstract textile work with practical tips on how to progress from the realistic to the abstract within your own practice.
- From shapes, colours and surface patterns to line art and textile influences, you will be armed with everything you need to make and experience your own personal responses to the theme.
- There are also contributions from other exciting contemporary artists and makers, such as Sarah Z. Short, Lorna Crane, Iain Perry and Helen Banzhaf.

Anne Kelly is a textile artist and tutor. She trained in Canada and the UK and now teaches and speaks to guilds and groups. Her work is exhibited widely in solo and group exhibitions, including private collections in the UK and abroad, the Vatican Collection in Rome and at the Textile Museum of Canada in Toronto. She was artist-in-residence at Sussex Prairie Garden in West Sussex and exhibited at the international World of Threads Festival and the Prague Patchwork Meeting. She is the author of several books published by Batsford: Textile Portraits, Textile Nature, Textile Folk Art and Textile Travels, and was the co-author with Cas Holmes of Connected Cloth. She lives in Tunbridge Wells, Kent.

Wild Weave

Alice Fox

- Textile artist Alice Fox encourages an openminded and playful approach to creating beautiful and innovative woven artworks using organic and natural materials.
- Packed full of introductory information, covering everything from the historical background of weaving to how weaving crosses boundaries between textiles, basketry, art and craft.
- Ideal for anyone wanting to develop their textile art practice, or for newcomers seeking inspiration without the requirements of expensive tools or materials.

Alice Fox is an embroiderer and textile artist musing techniques from textiles, soft basketry and printmaking. She uses found objects, gathered materials and natural processes, bringing different materials together to form tactile surfaces and structures. She is based in West Yorkshire, and she exhibits internationally.

Cooling Towers

A celebration of sculptural beauty, architectural legacy and industrial history

Twentieth Century Society

- A stirring, large-format celebration of cooling towers, Britain's monumental brutalist structures that are relics of 20th-century industrial history.
- A timely book that marks the end of cooling towers in Britain, with most of them slated for demolition very soon.
- Contributions from many leading British architectural writers and photographers, such as Otto Saumaurez Smith, Hugh Pearman, Luke O'Donovan and James O. Davies.
- With a foreword from Sir Antony Gormley.

The Twentieth Century Society is a British charity campaigning for the preservation of architectural heritage from 1914 onwards.

Celebrating Women

Women Writing on Women: Family, Friends, Feminism and Fun

Sarah Gristwood

- A captivating collection of women's writing – including everything from poetry, letters, novels, memoir, and journals – that celebrates the joy of being a woman.
- Arranged into five chapters, 'Firsts', 'Festivities', 'Friends', 'Family', and 'Flowering', celebrating the different areas of women's lives
- Contains a huge selection of writers dating back to the 15th century, from Christine Pizan to Emily Dickinson, Germaine Greer to Alice Walker.

Sarah Gristwood is a biographer, journalist and commentator on royal affairs. Her previous books include the bestselling Arbella: England's Lost Queen, The Tudors in Love, Secret Voices and biographies of Beatrix Potter, Vita Sackville-West and Virginia Woolf. She lives in Kent.

Textile Protest

Artists, activism and the historical power of cloth in protest

Julia Triston

- A landmark survey of how textiles have been used for protest in the 20th and 21st centuries, including banners, posters, flags, clothing and pieces from the world of fine art.
- Contains insightful interviews with prominent activist artists from a wide variety of protest movements.
- The author has a long history of making political textile art, and is known for using upcycled underwear in her work to make feminist statements about identity, sustainability and body image.

Julia Triston is a designer-maker and educator in stitched textiles, with over 30 years' experience teaching in the creative industries. She lectures at degree level, and she regularly uses upcycled underwear for feminist art pieces. She lives in Denmark.

Inspiration from Historical Textiles

Hannah Lamb

- A practical and inspirational guide to finding, researching and using historical textiles in your own textile art work.
- Brings layers of meaning and a rich sense of emotional connection through place and time.
- Illustrated with resonant examples of Hannah's own work and pieces from other artists working with historical textiles.

Hannah Lamb is a textile artist, lecturer and author, based at her home studio in West Yorkshire. She works with a range of textile processes, including stitch, print and fabric manipulation. Her first solo book, Poetic Cloth: Creating Meaning in Textile Art, was published by Batsford in 2019.

The Art of Couture Embroidery

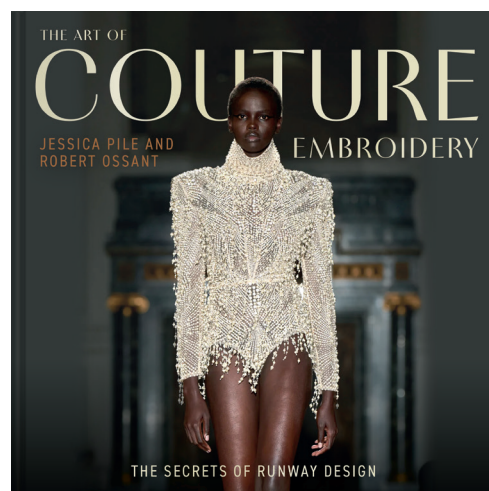

The secrets of runway design

Jessica Pile and Robert Ossant

- Dive into the fascinating world of fashion embroidery, with practical tricks and techniques and examples of some of the most iconic designs from the catwalk.
- Accompanied by highly illustrated step-bystep guides, this book demonstrates couture embroidery techniques and application in a high fashion context.
- Create your own looks by embroidering your off-the-peg clothes or handmade items.

Jessica Pile is an established embroidery expert, having produced iconic catwalk embroideries for Vivienne Westwood, Louis Vuitton, Mary Katrantzou and Burberry. She spent 12 years running the world-renowned embroidery house Hand & Lock and in 2024, she founded her own bespoke embroidery company, Norica Studios.

Robert Ossant is an art and fashion historian. He has written for international design houses Balenciaga, Alexander McQueen, Gucci, Bottega Veneta and Saint Laurent.

An Informal Guide to Workwear

Form, function and fashion

A.W. Sylvester

- Offers a thorough overview of the most important workwear pieces, discussing history, function, construction and materials, plus features on brands and workwear's cultural impact on the evolution of fashion.
- Workwear has transcended its utilitarian roots to become a staple in modern wardrobes. Originally designed for labour intensive jobs, today's workwear blends durable, well-made and sustainable clothing with fashion.
- Taps into the current consciousness of shopping for sustainable, lasting clothing as opposed to fast fashion.

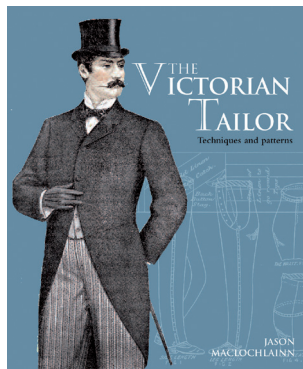

A.W. Sylvester is a prominent fashion writer with a substantial following of over 25,000 on Instagram. He is known for his insightful analysis and deep dives into fashion trends.
